June 2017

I wanted to thank everyone who attended the Installation Luncheon and especially Anna Lohse who installed the Board. It was so much fun.

A big thank you to my committee, Anita Chateau, Brandie Diosdado, Georgianne Villarin, and Carol Nottley. I couldn't have done it without you!

Hi Everyone:

Board elections have come and gone and we are well into our new fiscal year. Committees have been formed and are already at work. As an organization, we have grown a lot these past few years. It has taken a lot of energy from the Board members as we have increased our services to the community, strengthened our administration and fiscal functions and increased our membership. Under Katarzyna's leadership, we increased our presence in the art community, not just here in Chula Vista, but in other parts of the County, and formed new partnerships and collaborations with other agencies. She will be a hard act to follow.

High on my TO-DO list is to develop a survey to get your ideas and preferences. As we develop our plans for the year, your input is critical. I look forward to hearing your ideas and hopes for the future of our Guild.

Warmly,
Carol Nottley

F Street Library: Paintings by Dawn Andrews are on display for May and June..

If you haven't signed up to show your work at either the F-Street or the Orange Avenue libraries, please contact Nancy Scurto to get your name on the list.

Artist Profile Frank Stella (born 1936)

Frank Stella is considered the most influential painter of the movement away from Abstract Expressionism toward Minimalism. In his early work, he attempted to drain any external meaning or symbolism from painting, reducing his images to geometric form and eliminating illusionistic effects. He famously quipped, "What you see is what you see." His style has evolved from the "black" paintings to the colorful "protractor" series, as well as from canvas to sculpture.
